Rainforest Green Project

Our New Green Frames Look Incredible & Promote Environmental Awareness

At Interbike this year, Ellsworth launched the new Rainforest Green frame color to promote environmental awareness. The new black/green anodized color will be available on all full suspension mountain bikes and will include a laser etched tree frog logo on the top tube.

Similar to Project Pink, the Rainforest program will be another way for Ellsworth to provide funding to the causes we have a passion for. The Rainforest program is a continuation of our commitment to the environment that starts with our solar powered, fully sustainable office in San Diego.

The Rainforest Green Color is currently being phased into production this winter. As of today, we have all Moments, medium and large Truths, large Epiphanies and large Evolves in stock with the new Rainforest frame color. All frame sizes & models will be in stock by early next year.
